PREFACE

Some year ago the compiler was searching for certain early marriage records, and was directed by the Right Reverend Alfred Harding, D.D., Bishop of Washington, to the Broad Creek or Piscataway Parish Records. These are the oldest records for Washington, and are amongst the oldest for the Province and State of Maryland. They begin in 1693, and have been prepared in manuscript to appear in the subsequent volume, with other valuable and hitherto unpublished records.

The early Parish Records contain the compulsory recording of marriages, births, deaths, trials, etc., irrespective of religious affiliations, and were the public records kept before the formation of the counties. These records are not complete, but every entry has a bearing historically and genealogically upon localities and families throughout the United States and England.

COLONIAL CENSUS OF 1776

The deficiencies in the preserved Church Records, inscriptions, etc., led the compiler to search for other collateral data. A valued friend suggested the Archives of Maryland as containing valuable material, and they were drawn upon through the active coöperation of the Maryland Historical Society.

A Century of Population Growth in the United States, 1790–1900, Washington, 1909, pp. 3–4, says:

> The necessity for a national census, comprehending all the states, became apparent early in the Continental period (1774–1789). During the War of the Revolution, the Continental Congress had authorized and directed the issue of $3,000,000.00 in bills of credit. It had also resolved that the credit of the Thirteen United Colonies should be pledged for the redemption of these bills; that each colony should provide ways and means to redeem its proportion in such manner as it should see fit; that the proportion of each colony should be determined by the number of its inhabitants of all ages, including negroes and mulattoes; and that it should be recommended to the colonial authorities to ascertain in the most confidential manner their respective populations, and to send the returns, properly authenticated, to Congress. Massachusetts and Rhode Island took a census upon this recommendation in 1776, but most of the colonies failed to comply.

Page 185 of the same publication gives "An Account of the Number of Souls in the Province of Maryland, in the Year 1755" from the Gentle- man's Magazine, Vol. xxxiv, page 261. Nowhere do we find any reference to the Maryland Census of 1776.

Through the active interest and assistance of Hon. Edwin Warfield, President of the Maryland Historical Society, and of its Council and Library Committee, permission was granted to photograph and reproduce important documents in connection with the related Parish and other records. A portion of the Census of 1776 is therefore herein reproduced as an important historical contribution to the early history of Maryland.

Heads of Families, First Census of the United States, 1790, enumerates the male head of the family, and gives the number of children, including the mother, etc. The Colonial Census of 1776, Maryland, part of which is herein reproduced in facsimile, enumerates "all souls," largely by names, even of babies, giving all ages at the time of enumeration. Peculiar value attaches to such information from whatever angle the data may be considered. One subscriber summarizes by saying "There is nothing to be found like this publication."

The expense involved in reproducing pages in facsimile, upon permanent uncoated paper, is deemed to be justified by reason of the resulting accuracy and permanency. To avoid all possibility of error through cleaning the plates, artistic appearance has been sacrificed, and the perpetuated blemishes occurring in the old and yellow documents bear mute testimony to the accuracy of the facsimiles. The remainder of the valuable Census of 1776 will probably be later published, if the support for the project justifies the expenditure. Those who desire such additional publication of the record will confer a favor upon all concerned if they will soon communicate with the compiler of this volume.

Especial attention is directed to the fact that this Census of 1776 (Frederick County in this volume, and certain unpublished parts of the census) is a census not only of Maryland, but also of the twenty-mile strip of former Pennsylvania soil and inhabitants brought into Maryland by the location of the Mason and Dixon Line (1763–1767). This should broaden the support accorded the publication, as the title might be made to read "Maryland and Pennsylvania Records, etc."

In using the Census of 1776 deduct from 1776 the figure following the individual enumerated, and you have the year in which the said individual was born. In the Census for Prince George's County, pp. 18–88 the ages of all male members of the family follow the name of the male head, and the ages of the female members follow the name of the female head, without giving the separate names of the children and servants. It gives the dates of birth of all living members of the family and is a valuable check list on the membership of the special families in 1776. It enables the reader to see what probable omissions occur in the enumerated births, etc., of the same families as given in the later volume of Parish records.

Cordial thanks for active coöperation are hereby extended to Hon. Edwin Warfield, President of the Maryland Historical Society, Mr. Richard H. Spencer, Corresponding Secretary, Mr. Robert F. Hayes, Jr., Acting Librarian, Mr. Charles Fickus, and others connected with the said Society; to Mr. Chas. W. Stewart, Superintendent Library and Naval War Records, Washington, D. C., for important suggestions, etc.; to Mrs. Margaret Roberts Hodges and her husband, Mr. George W. Hodges, Annapolis, Md., for important assistance in research and in furnishing valuable manuscript; to Mrs. Bell Merrill Draper (Mrs. Amos G.), Washington, D. C., for research and manuscript; to Mr. Leroy Stafford Boyd, Washington, D. C., for manuscript; to Hon. Hammond Urner, Chief Judge Circuit Court for Frederick County, Frederick, Md., for his interest and consent to publish records, and to Miss Nellie Carter Garrott, Frederick, Md., for copying the said records; to Mr. Ernest Helfenstein, Frederick, Md., for research and for manuscript. The accomplishment of the latter gentleman in perpetuating old tombstone records about to be forever lost is especially commended to numerous others who are in position to copy valuable records in the older portions of the United States. Dr. Edward B. Mathews, Baltimore, Md., very kindly granted the use of the Map of Maryland, etc., from his admirable The Counties of Maryland, etc., elsewhere acknowledged.

Cordial thanks are also extended to Mr. Ernest Lindsley Crandall for his skillful photographs of the original records; to the Joyce Engraving Company for skillfully making most of the illustrations, and to the Waverly Press, Messrs. Williams and Wilkins, Baltimore, Md. (especially Mr. John K. Mount who has shown continuous interest in the solution of the problems encountered in the work). Further mention will be made of the Right Reverend Alfred Harding, Bishop of Washington, and to other friends who have materially assisted in furthering the success of this undertaking, in connection with the subsequent volume to be issued next year. Further assistance by directing attention to unknown and newly discovered Maryland records, and by stimulating increased subscriptions for the several volumes will be greatly appreciated. To all the numerous active co-workers warmest thanks are hereby extended, and the hope is expressed that this volume may prove to be one of much interest and permanent value.

Prince George's County

"At the time Prince George's County was erected [1695] there were settlements along the Patuxent nearly up to Laurel, but there were few if any settlements on the Potomac side in the vicinity of Piscataway Creek on account of the presence of the friendly Indians, who had reserved to themselves this territory for a permanent abode. There were, however, settlements or small outposts at the mouth of Rock Creek within the present limits of Georgetown and along the Anacostia River in the vicinity of Hyattsville and Bladensburg, and as far up the Northwest Branch as the present Montgomery line."

"Within the next two decades these settlements had extended beyond the present limits of Prince George's County although they were at that time within its limits. During these same years the whites began to settle on the territory formerly claimed by the Indians, who ultimately left the Europeans in undisputed possession."

"The first curtailment of territory assigned Prince George's County occurred in 1748 when the county was reduced to its present limits, including the District of Columbia, by Chapters 14 and 15 of the Laws of Md. for 1748. According to the first act which was stimulated by a petition by some of the freeholders in Prince George's County who found it inconvenient to attend the County Court at Upper Marlboro, it was enacted:

> "'That from and after the Tenth Day of December, in the year One thousand seven hundred and forty eight the Land lying at present in Prince George's County, and contained within the bounds following, viz., by a Line drawn from Mattawoman run, in the Road commonly called the Rolling Road, that leads from the late dwelling Plantation of Mr. Edward Neale, through the lower Part of Mr. Peter Dent's Dwelling Plantation, until it strikes Patowmack River, at or near the bounded Tree of a Tract of Land whereon John Beall, junior now lives (standing on the Bank of the aforesaid River, at the lower end of the aforesaid Beall's Plantation) then with the River to the Mouth of Mattawoman Creek, shall be and for ever hereafter deemed as a Part of Charles County . . . .'"

"The second act passed in 1748 related to the erection of Frederick County from all the less settled portions of Prince George's County. According to this law it was enacted:

> "'that all the land lying to the westward of a line beginning at the lower side of the mouth of Rock Creek and thence by a straight line joining to the east side of Seth

Hyatts plantation, to the Patuxent River shall be taken from Prince George's County and made into a new jurisdiction to be called Frederick County.' "

"A portion of this line still forms the boundary between Montgomery and Prince George's counties."

"The final change in the boundaries of Prince George's County was made in 1791 when the District of Columbia was ceded to the National Government from portions of Montgomery [erected 1776] and Prince George's counties."*

HUNDREDS OF PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY

Prince George's County was established in 1695; and is divided into nineteen hundreds, viz., Prince Frederick, Washington, Mattawoman, Mount Calvert, Patuxent, Upper Marlborough, Charlotte, Horsepan, King George, Piscataway, Hanson, Oxen, Bladensburg, Eastern Branch, Rock Creek, Western Branch, Collington, Grubb, and New Scotland.†

The Census of 1776 was taken by parishes in Prince George's County (see pp. 1–89), and in Anne Arundel County (see pp. 407–431). The admirable returns for the said counties herein reproduced in facsimile, and the returns for the several hundreds of Frederick County (see pp. 177–257), and of Charles County (see pp. 297–312) are unfortunately all of this census which have been preserved for the said localities.

Note: In pages 93–172 a few names are out of alphabetical order, due to errors in name being corrected in the page proof and therefore the position was not changed. Not all the licensees are repeated in the alphabetical positions, therefore see the general index for all names.

FREDERICK COUNTY

CENSUS OF 1776

Census of 1776, Frederick County, Maryland*

The first settlements in Frederick County began along the Monocacy River, probably as early as 1710. As early as 1740 Pennsylvania Germans had followed the old Monocacy trail, and settled in the vicinity of Grayson, Creagerstown and Frederick. Especial attention is directed to the Census for Elizabeth Town Hundred, herein reproduced. "The growth in population in this region was very rapid, and by 1748 it appeared wise to erect a new county for this accommodation. The Act by which this was decreed enacted that:

> 'Beginning at the lower side of the mouth of Rock Creek, and thence by a strait line joining to the East Side of Seth Hyatt's Plantation, to Patuxent River—then with Patuxent River to the Lines of Baltimore County, and with the said County to the Extent of the Province; and that all the Land lying to the Westward and Southward of the said Lines be included in the new County aforesaid, and that after the Commencement of this Act the said new County shall be called Frederick County—'†

The Act of 1750, Chap. 13, loosely defined the boundary between Frederick and Baltimore counties, and this line continued until Carroll County was erected (Mch. 25, 1836, confirmed Jan. 19, 1837).

"Up to the outbreak of the Revolutionary War no further change was made in the limits of Frederick County. Permanent settlements of Germans had in the meantime been made at Middletown, Taneytown, Sharpsburg, Thurmont, Union Bridge, Emmitsburg and Woodsboro as well as in the Hagerstown Valley. At the Constitutional Convention of 1776 it was decided to divide this widely extended and now more or less populous Frederick County into three counties, Washington, Montgomery and Frederick, corresponding to the Upper, Lower and Middle Districts of Frederick County. The line of separation determined by this Convention was as follows: From the mouth of the Monocacy a straight line was drawn to Parrs Spring, or the headwaters of the Patuxent, and the portion of Frederick County lying to the south and east was assigned to Montgomery County. The second line ran along the crest of the South Mountain from the temporary line to the Potomac River. All the territory lying west of this was assigned to Washington County.‡

THE HUNDRED IN MARYLAND

"In Maryland the people settled in plantations scattered along the banks of the streams emptying into the Chesapeake Bay. They had no towns for this reason, but they had an area of local government smaller than the county [and district] during provincial times. This division was known as the Hundred, because in old English times that division was supposed to furnish that number of warriors to the army. John Fiske in his Civil Government in the United States says: 'In Maryland the hundred flourished and became the political unit like the township in New England. The hundred was the militia district and the district for the assessment of taxes. . . . The officers of the Maryland hundred were the high constable, the commander of the militia, the tobacco viewers, the overseer of roads, and the assessor of taxes. The last mentioned officer was elected by the people, the others were all appointed by the Governor.' The hundred was not prized by the people of Maryland, and was abolished in 1824. It was swallowed up in the county, and no small area of government has been established in the State since that time, except the municipalities."*

"Of the courts below the provincial court there were, at one time and another, the manorial courts, the hundred court, and the court of the single justice of the peace for the recovery of small debts.

Previous to 1650 it does not appear that there was any erection of counties in an express and formal way; yet, in reality, the western shore was treated as one county, called St. Mary's and the eastern shore was treated as another called Kent. The more important settlements on the western shore were erected into hundreds as constituent parts of St. Mary's County, while those on the eastern shore were erected into hundreds as constituent parts of Kent County. Whenever a hundred was erected, its head officer was constituted a justice of the peace. Under him was a constable. He was appointed either by the justice or by the governor, and was intrusted with the duties of constable and coroner. As justice of the peace, the head officer of the hundred was given such powers as belonged to one or even to two justices of the peace in England.†

HUNDREDS OF FREDERICK AND MONTGOMERY COUNTIES

Volume 1, Scharf's History of Western Maryland, p. 419, enumerates the original hundreds of Frederick County, as established in 1749 (county erected in 1748), together with the constables for the hundreds. In 1759 Piney Creek, Burnt House Woods, Fredericktown, and Old Town hundreds first appear in the records.

The records of the Maryland Historical Society give the following hundreds, alphabetically arranged, for Frederick (Old) County before 1776:

Upper Antietam, Lower Antietam, Burnt Woods, Conococheague, Cumberland, Elizabeth, Fort Frederick, Fredericktown, Georgetown, Kitocton, Upper Kitocton, Linganore, Linton, Manor, Marsh, Upper Part Monocacy, Middle Monocacy, Lower Monocacy, Upper Part Newfoundland, Lower Part Newfoundland, North West, Old Town, Piney Creek, Pipe Creek, Upper Part Potomack, Lower Part Potomack, Rock Creek, Salisbury, Seneca, Sharpsburgh, Shipton, Sugar Land, Sugar Loaf, Tom's Creek.

Montgomery and Washington counties were carved out of Frederick County by "resolve of the Convention on 6th September, 1776," but were not organized until 1777, at which time (Scharf, Vol. 1, p. 658) the Montgomery County Hundreds were:

(1) Upper Part Newfoundland, (2) Lower Part Newfoundland, (3) Upper Part Potomack, (4) Lower Part Potomack, (5) Seneca, (6) North West, (7) Georgetown, (8) Rock Creek, (9) Sugar Land, (10) Sugar Loaf, (11) Linganore.

"Of these (1) to (4), and (8) to (11), inclusive, are the old Frederick County names, while the others are new names, but the new hundreds must have been carved out of the originals as they came from Frederick."*

* Wm. H. Talbott, Esq., Rockville, Md., who also assisted in identifying the ——— Hundred of Frederick County (198–216) as being a Montgomery County Census.

Tombstone Inscriptions from the Original Church Yard of All Saints' Parish, Frederick, Maryland (Complete)*

All Saints', the mother parish of Western Maryland, was created by Act of Assembly October 29, 1742: An "Act for dividing Prince George's Parish, in Prince George's County, and for erecting a parish out of the same, called by the name of 'All Saints' Parish.'" About three years later, when the town of Frederick was laid out by Dulaney, three lots on All Saints' Street were obtained, on a portion of which the parish church was built, and the surrounding church yard became the parish burying ground. Its use as such continued until 1852, and during this period it became the place of interment of many of the most prominent and influential citizens of Frederick County. Revolutionary heroes and men prominent in church and state were buried there, amongst the vaults erected being those of Thomas Johnson, Maryland's first governor; Worthington Johnson, John Grahame, Col. John McPherson and A. B. Hanson. In the early days of its history a definite portion of the lot was reserved for burial of bodies of slaves; but, as the demand for space increased with time and use, restrictions became necessary and a graveyard for colored members and slaves of church families was provided on an adjoining lot, outside of the church yard proper. The removal of the church building in 1814 provided additional space for burying purposes, but this relief was merely temporary and soon again all available space was in use. Efforts to purchase adjoining land came to naught, so that the church authorities were forced to again use the land that already contained graves. It was largely as a result of this condition, and through the efforts of men identified with All Saints' congregation, that the present Mt. Olivet Cemetery, of Frederick, was organized in 1852. After this date interments in the old church yard virtually ceased. The removal of the remains of some of the most prominent members began soon after this date, resulting in a lack of interest in the old yard, with consequent neglect. There still remained however a feeling of sentiment which prevented action on the part of the vestry until in 1914 it was able to reverently and carefully remove to a well selected and amply large section of Mt. Olivet all that could be found of those formerly buried in All Saints' Grave Yard. Of the total of three hundred and twenty-four bodies thus removed to Mt. Olivet, only seventy could be identified; while of the three hundred and eighty removed to the colored cemetery, virtually all were of unknown persons and from unmarked graves. The old yard is a vacant lot and for sale. Only about ten of the old tombstones were re-erected in Mt. Olivet, the remaining ones were placed under ground with the remains. These inscriptions are therefore especially important.
